Notes:

<sup>1</sup> Criminal incidents – These are the numbers of separate criminal incidents that were reported to police. A single police file may contain several criminal incidents. A criminal incident is any infraction that is listed in the Criminal Code of Canada.

<sup>2</sup> Non-criminal and assistance files – These are files opened by police in which there was no allegation that a criminal offence was committed. It includes a wide range of incidents including the assistance to the public and assistance to other organizations. The word "files" is used instead of "incidents" because in almost all cases, an assistance or non-criminal file has only the one incident attached to it.
