Ongoing Consumer Price Work

In 2010–2011, the KRG and the Makivik Corporation agreed to reduce the price of gasoline sold in Nunavik by 21¢ per litre and to reduce by 20% the prices of 20 food products, pursuant to an agreement between the Ministère des Transports du Québec and KRG for the reduction of the cost of living in Nunavik. As well, the federal government has introduced major changes in its supply subsidy for the North. A study is underway to monitor the impacts of these changes

A $100 food basket in Quebec City costs on average $181 in Nunavik. This 81% difference is the main finding of a new study completed by the Canada Research Chair on Comparative Aboriginal Condition at the Université Laval. Consumer prices were compared throughout Nunavik in April 2011, in close collaboration with the Kativik Regional Government (KRG). The differences in prices between Quebec City and Nunavik, documented in 2000 and 2006, continue to exist today.

Significant differences exist between product categories.

Food Products

The study compared the prices of 90 food products in grocery stores in Nunavik communities and in Quebec City. The comparison demonstrated that all products were more expensive in Nunavik but also that there are significant differences between the categories of products. Fresh products are on average 45% more expensive in Nunavik while frozen products were on average 100% more expensive. A dozen eggs that cost $2.91 in Quebec City sell for $4.17 in Nunavik; frozen fish sticks that cost $6.45 in Quebec City sell for $13.12 in Nunavik.

Household Products

Household cleaning products are also much more expensive in Nunavik. A selection of 15 household cleaning products worth $100 in Quebec City costs on average $204 in Nunavik. This represents a difference of 104%. A box of facial tissues that costs $1.49 in Quebec City sells for $3.52 in Nunavik; a 1.9-kg box of powder detergent that costs $9.27 in Quebec City sells for $20.47 in Nunavik.
